What exactly is the difference between these three functions?

valid? is defined as

(define (valid? x) (not? (null? x)))

nil? is defined as

(define nil? null?)

null? is built in and is defined as

static int
isNull(int args)
{
    return scamBoolean(car(args) == 0);
}