Looking for two more team members, open to project ideas but also have one in mind. No big skills required- looking for this to be a learning experience for all. I hope to meet together a few times to talk ideas, finalize one, and then get on top of learning the technologies necessary to build the project so that when the CH weekend comes we can just focus on building and prototyping and not be desperately googling. Email me at mailto:damccoy1@crimson.ua.edu.